Geneva, Illinois.

Major

Bachelor of Science in Humanities, minor in Architecture, Policy & Ethics, and Public Policy

Why did you choose your major/What do you want to do with your degree?

I chose humanities because I want to use my research and communication skills to promote citizen science and combat environmental inequality in urban environments. I also have an interest in helping city dwellers develop a better connection with nature, through innovative policy and community development strategies.

What is your favorite thing about the Camras Scholars Program?

I believe I represent what it means to be a Camras Scholar because I am naturally curious, ambitious, and altruistic.

Where do you see yourself in 20 years?

I see myself living in Chicago and leading the fight for citywide environmental justice. I would like to be known as a steward of the local community, prioritizing people first but caring deeply for the trees and plants that grow alongside them.
